

Promoting Human Rights and Ending Trafficking in Persons

Trafficking in persons continues as a severe violation of human rights around the world. Women and girls, in particular, are vulnerable to human trafficking in a variety of sectors, and they experience coercion, abuse, and a climate of fear in their work. This panel will feature discussion by program and policy experts as they examine the dynamics of vulnerabilities, and the promotion of human rights-based and long-term solutions to trafficking in persons.

Speakers:

- ◆ SIENNA BASKIN, Sex Workers Project at the Urban Justice Center
- ◆ FLORRIE BURKE, Consultant
- ◆ SHANI JAMILA, Human Rights Project at the Urban Justice Center
- ◆ AVALOY LANNING, Safe Horizon Anti-Trafficking Program
- ◆ SUZANNE TOMATORE, City Bar Justice Center Immigrant Women and Children Project
- ◆ Moderated by IVY SURIYOPAS, Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund

March 7, 2013 at 8:30 am

RSVP: <http://nyatncsw2013.eventbrite.com>

More than 10 years of providing direct services and news, information, and current events about anti-trafficking efforts in New York by leading advocates.

NEW YORK ANTI-TRAFFICKING NETWORK

Website: <http://nyatn.wordpress.com/>

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/nyantitrafficking>

Twitter: <https://twitter.com/NYATN>

Email: nycantitrafficking-subscribe@yahoogroups.com