

Current Challenges in Combating Human Trafficking 20 Years After the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action

Twenty years after the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, human trafficking continues to be pervasive around the world. Women and girls, in particular, are vulnerable to human trafficking in a variety of sectors, and they experience coercion, abuse, and a climate of fear in their work. This panel will feature discussion by anti-trafficking experts as they examine the challenges in implementation of human rights-based, long-term actions by governments, NGOs, and other stakeholders. Particular attention will be paid to current anti-trafficking strategies in the U.S., including around prostitution and commercial sex, from a human rights perspective.

Speakers:

- ◆ MARY CAPARAS, New York Asian Women's Center
- ◆ KATE MOGULESCU, Legal Aid Society
- ◆ SUZANNE SELTZER, The Seltzer Firm
- ◆ IVY SURIYOPAS, Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund

March 14, 2015 at 12:30 pm

Church Center, 777 UN Plaza, 8th Fl., Boss Room

Space is limited. RSVP: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/current-challenges-in-combating-human-trafficking-tickets-15277902618?ref=estw>

More than 13 years of providing direct services and news, information, and current events about anti-trafficking efforts in New York by leading advocates.

NEW YORK ANTI-TRAFFICKING NETWORK

Website: <http://nyatn.wordpress.com/>

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/nyantitrafficking>

Twitter: <https://twitter.com/NYATN>

Email: nycantitrafficking-subscribe@yahoo.com